Billy Gastreich showed his admirers something when he knocked Young Fitzgerald out in the third round of a private bout. Gastreich used a straight right for the closing clout.

The South Sider took the lead at the start of the fight and Fitzgerald never had a chance. If the youngster continues to advance there will be better bouts open to him in a short time. The only danger is that his backers, encouraged by his showing, may pick men of too much class right at the start. Many good fighters have been spoiled by poor matchmaking.

Chuck Anderson, a 118-pound wrestler, is doing light work at the West Side gymnasium, Madison and Morgan streets, in preparation for bouts he has in view. The youngster is willing to take on any one at his weight.

Pitcher Houck has been released by the Philadelphia Athletics.

Cleveland has bought Pitcher Hoffer from Portsmouth, O.

Cubs Rally Like Old Machine—Sox Win on Cicotte's Pitching.

If some wise bird can answer the insistent insinuations about Mrs. Rip Van Winkle, probably he can also explain the dope of Jimmy Lavender.

For James Sanford is about the biggest question mark now before West Side fans. At times he is a whale of a pitcher, and on other occasions he is softer than the blanket on a lemon cream pie. Yesterday he pitched seven brilliant innings against Philadelphia, being touched for two hits, and appeared to have the stuff for an in-
